Transformation of the business mix leading to strong revenue growth...

High exposure to services with recurrent billing (approx. 80%) helps us pass on inflation and accelerate product convergence

Revenues from mobile, FTTH, B2B and new businesses are the main growth drivers

1 - Total revenues excluding fixed voice, xDSL and DTH.

2 - Non-Core revenues includes fixed voice, xDSL and DTH. Since Jan/2023 we do not offer DTH services.

By combining revenue growth above inflation with controlled cost evolution, we establish the foundation for sustained EBITDA expansion

The investments made to date enable us to reduce capital intensity

Investments optimization benefiting from efficiencies and expansion of new services that do not consume Capex

Trend of lower

should continue

Improvement in the mobile mix, as traffic migrates from 4G to 5G, coupled with ongoing efficiency initiatives, may create additional savings

Expansion of the fiber network to 29 million HPs by 2024 done primarily through overlay, but also in partnership with FiBrasil

Reduction of the Capex dedicated to IT transformation

Operating cash flow margin with positive trend as business performance improves

Operating Cash Flow Margin¹

Improvement in operational results, combined with controlled levels of Capex, will lead to an expansion of Operating Cash Flow...

...with positive evolution both before and after leases

Free cash flow generation will continue to be one of our main attributes, allowing for different value creation opportunities

Free Cash Flow expansion, boosted mainly by EBITDA growth and lower capital intensity...

...continuing with improvements in ROCE¹ levels

This should maintain Vivo as one of the leading companies in terms of FCF yield in the sector
